The Images and Expressions art exhibit recently opened in the Louis O. Palmer Art Gallery located on Muskingum University's campus. The exhibit will feature local artists from Tuscarawas County in Ohio and New York.

There was a reception held on Sunday Feb. 22. The exhibit will be open for viewing for four weeks.

Community members and students can come and view the exhibit anytime via appointment.

"If I am here I can give explanation[s] on each art works," said Yan Sun Professor of Art.

There are several different types of art mediums featured in the exhibit including. photography, mixed media, and painting.

One artist featured in The Images and Expressions art exhibit is Peggy Sibila.

Sibila talked about her artistic work. "Most of my work is mixed media I incorporate some other things with my pieces."

Each of the art pieces showcased different artistic styles.

"The straw catches on fire and it oxidizes and then you come out with a piece like this, the clay is usually red or white but as you can see where the [Raku]glaze isn't on there it turns black," said Sibila.

On Tuesday Feb. 24 a lecture was given by Jeanine Kennedy Executive Director of the Tuscarawas County Center for the Arts.

"We have [a] lecture next Tuesday and everyone from this community or campus who want to visit here we are welcome," said Sun.

The exhibit will be open until March 19.
